Parents, please use the following calendar to indicate any changes that might occur during the holiday season. Things such as: visiting relatives, cooking day, baking day, holiday parties, visits, going to a play, going to a movie, crafts, decorating, appointments, any anniversary of past traumas that might be relevant during the holidays. On the days of a change, I would love to know parts of your routine during that day that will be the same. This will allow me to discuss the changes with your child, as long as what will be the same at home, helping them to feel safe and secure in knowing most things will stay the same.

I have also attached a classroom schedule, highlighting our schedule changes. Please post this at home, and discuss each day if our day will be the same, or have something different happen. The items listed in black are all the things that will stay the same, and items in purple are changes in our schedule.
